

New Jersey should not weaken their Do No Call restrictions. It has been such a pleasure to have a family dinner without the interruption of a telemarketer. With so many families on the go these days dinner has become the only time families get a chance to discuss their day. Every state should fully enforce this law.